Art Beat Miami Brings Sports, High Fashion and International Art Together for Its 13th Annual Art Fair During Miami Art Week/Art Basel Miami 2026

Joakim Noah, Laís Ribeiro, Korto Momolu, Stella Jean, Celia Ledón and Oscar Esteban Martínez headline the editorial lineup of Art Beat Miami Magazine's Culture Without Borders edition, debuting during five days of free cultural programming.

MIAMI, FL — November 2026 — What happens when an NBA All-Star, a Victoria's Secret Angel, a Bravo TV Project Runway favorite and the designer behind Haiti's internationally celebrated Olympic uniforms become part of the same cultural conversation?

Art Beat Miami is bringing their worlds together.

Returning December 2–6, 2026, for its 13th annual Art Fair during Art Basel/Miami Art Week, Art Beat Miami presents five days of free programming spanning visual art, international fashion, music, culinary experiences and the business of creativity.

The Art Fair will take place across participating Miami venues, including the Joseph Caleb Center and Brightline MiamiCentral Station.

A Magazine Without Borders | Art Beat Miami Magazine Unveiling

On Thursday, December 3rd, Art Beat Miami will unveil the second edition of Art Beat Miami Magazine. Under the theme "Culture Without Borders", the publication features an intimate conversation with former NBA All-Star Joakim Noah and internationally renowned supermodel Laís Ribeiro, exploring identity, success, individuality and life beyond the spotlight.

The edition also spotlights internationally acclaimed Haitian Italian designer Stella Jean, Liberian fashion designer Korto Momolu, Cuban multidisciplinary artist and designer Celia Ledón, and international creative talent Oscar Esteban Martínez from Colombia.

With 10,000 complimentary printed copies planned for distribution throughout Miami-Dade County, including Miami International Airport, Miami Art Week activations, cultural destinations and community venues, the publication will extend its reach through February 2027. The official cover will be revealed during the Art Beat Miami Opening Reception at Brightline Miami Central Station.

From Project Runway to Miami Art Basel

Internationally acclaimed designer Korto Momolu will headline Sew Artsy: Art on the Catwalk on Friday, December 4th, at Brightline Miami Central Station. Celebrated for her striking silhouettes, bold colors and contemporary interpretations of African heritage, the Bravo TV Project Runway standout brings her distinctive vision to a showcase celebrating fashion as wearable art.

The Business Behind the Art

Who protects the artist? Who profits from creativity? Art Means Business: How Accessible Art Creates Value for Business brings together industry professionals to explore entrepreneurship, intellectual property and resources available to artists.

Featured panelists include Ashlee K. Thomas, Director of the Miami-Dade County Department of Cultural Affairs; George Gadson, visual artist and business consultant with the Small Business Development Center; Angela M. Nieves, Senior Associate at SRIPLAW, specializing in intellectual property protection and artist and former NBA player, Neil Anthony Edwards.

Art Belongs to Everyone
