KLEIN TOOLS®

millennials enjoy working in the skilled trades

57%

of millennial electricians entered the industry when they were 25 years old or younger

Nearly half of millennial electricians believe employers should showcase how a job in the skilled trades solves everyday challenges and makes a difference in people's lives of millennial electricians

52%

chose to enter the field because they enjoy problem solving and the technical aspects of the electrical industry

Half of young electricians chose a career in the industry due to the field's job security

45 percent of young electricians feel employers can highlight real life stories of how exciting a career in the skilled trades can be through videos and social media

For full survey results, head to www.kleintools.com/2018survey1